

Tuck a verse in each child's pocket and one for yourself. Then pray together that God will help you trust the verse.

Most translations refer to Deut. 6:5 as the greatest commandment:

You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your might.

And

The forgotten verses, the ones after the "and" are God's commands to parents.

For instance Deut. 6:8

"Tie them to your hands" (another way of saying "carry a verse WITH you").

This week may we all review God's commands to parents, the second half of the greatest commandment.

Call to me,
and I will answer you,
