

Melva Noakes was director of the day care in the Oklahoma City Bombing. When I asked her how she kept going she said: “I can’t do much about the children who were killed or injured in the bombing but the children of divorce are hurt much worse and I can help them.” This months coloring book is titled.

“God’s Healing for the Children of Divorce”

Having family trouble does not put you at the bottom of God's list. It moves you to the top.

Some examples of God's children who had family trouble are Joseph, Moses, Samuel, and Daniel. Joseph's whole mixed up family was mad all the time. Moses did not get to live with the family he loved. Samuel was so lonely God spoke to him personally. Daniel was surrounded by ungodly people.
God loved them all.

This Bible verse is a Blessing. Speak it out loud to your children. Blessings help them focus on God's power and not their circumstances or feelings.
Don't make your children
do without. Bless them...color

Most parents worry about the behavior of their children, drugs, sex, violence, school performance etc. The real problem is the forces that MOTIVATE children to misbehave ...fear, anger, loneliness, hurt, loss. The leader of the parade is usually fear. This verse should be a foundation for every child of divorce.

Blaming God is the opposite of a positive outlook.

If there is one single foundation for the children of divorce it is believing God loves them and that he can help them...even with a problem as big as divorce.

For some the winds of childhood are gentle breezes. Others live daily with hurricane force gales of fear, anger, loneliness, the breakup of their family...even death and war. None of us, parent or child, knows what is ahead of us. In the end all we have...any of us is: "Precious Promises". Don't make your children do without.

A very good way to help children understand and believe God really is with them is to send them out the door...every morning... with a Bible verse in their pocket.

Being loved and feeling loved are not always the same thing.

Ask yourself how you could make each of your children feel loved. The answer is usually spending a little time with them...each day ...at a set time

Trusting God to help with our problems is not natural.

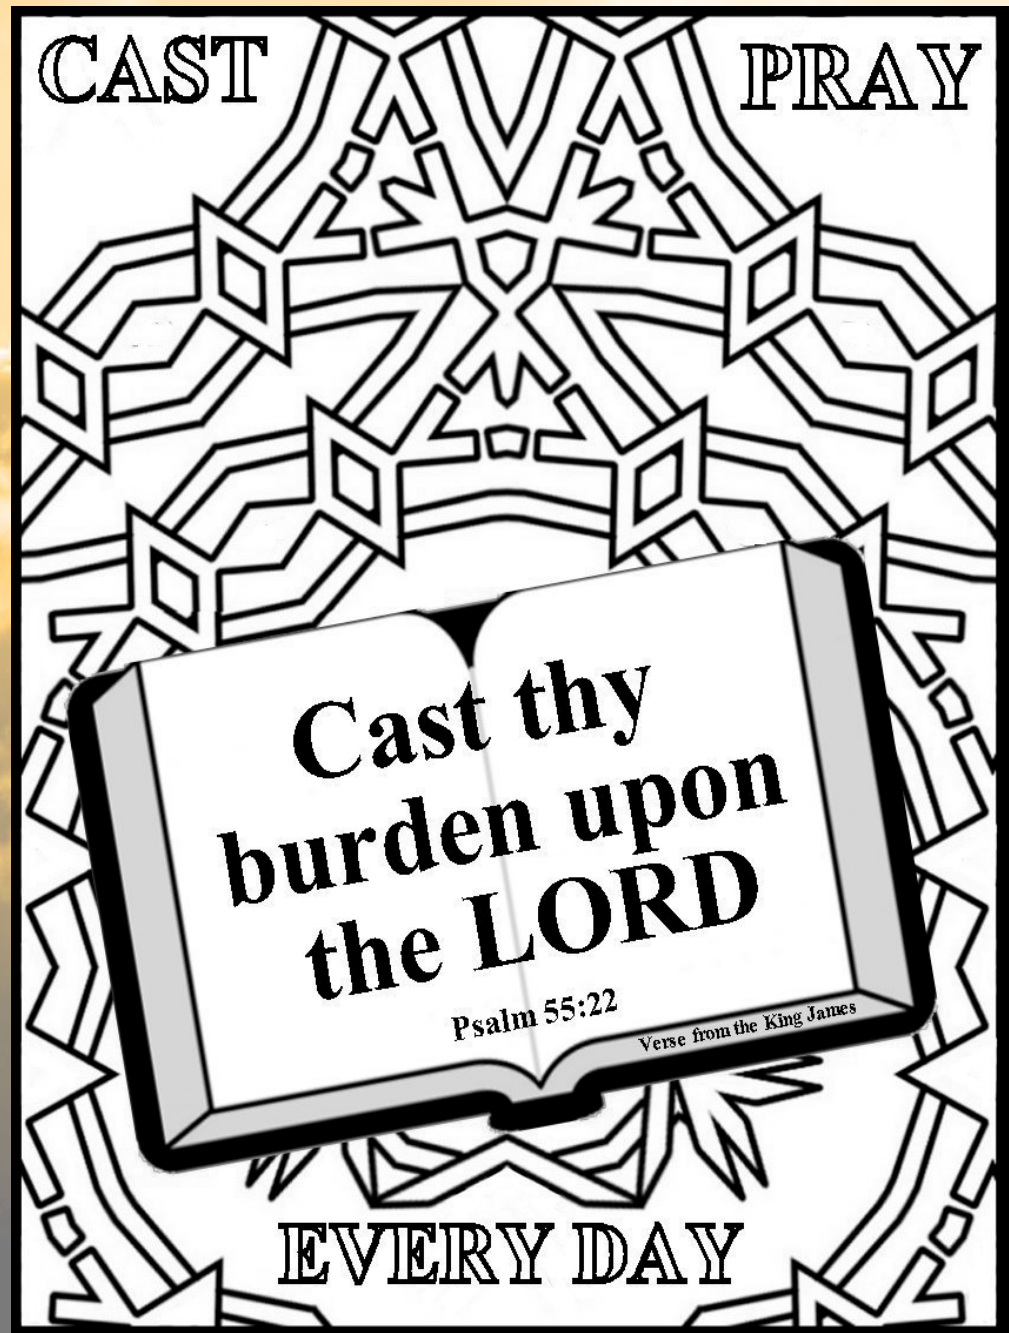

We have to work at it, especially when our problems are large ones. First we admit it is too much for you. Then we ask God for grace to TRUST him.

Once learned it is never forgotten and life becomes good again.

Love your ex.

The biggest monster for the children of divorce is learning to be two people, one for dad and one for mom. Many many parents make the suffering worse by holding on to the anger that caused the divorce in the first place.

Spare your children. Love your ex. God will help. It's a command.

Forgiving is a very big word. It is however the only way we can be forgiven.

My favorite definition is: Giving up the right to get even ...for small offenses and for large. It is not forgetting the past. It is clearing the way for your child's future.

The top three resiliency factors for the children of divorce are:

- *An intimate relationship with at least one adult.
- *Regular church attendance.
- *And deep personal faith.

In the United States the years of life lost to the children of divorce (4-10 years for boys and 1-4 for girls) is the same as repeating the Oklahoma City Bombing 1,500 times a day every day of the year. We hope and pray your church will reach out to these children.

We pray also that your Sunday School leaders forward this slide show to one another and visit
